Words for Meditation

"Love and loss are intimate, inseparable companions. By knowing what things will not last forever, we can choose to love them loosely and give ourselves more fully to what is everlasting."

~ Rev. Mark Feldmeir

Scripture

Mark 13:1–8

Today's Takeaways

1. Count your _____, that you may gain a _____.
2. In every _____ is the promise of a new _____.
3. Knowing what things are _____ allows us to love them loosely, so that we can give ourselves to what is _____.

Today's Questions

1. Have you ever had an "apocalyptic" experience, as defined in today's sermon? If so, what did the experience reveal about you? What did you learn about yourself?
2. Is there something important you know you must do that you've been putting off for later? Why have you been putting it off? How would life be more wonderful if you acted now?

UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

St. Andrew

Our Vision: Bringing more love, justice and community into the world.
Our Mission: To love God with our heart, soul, mind and strength, and to love our neighbors as ourselves.

Current Sermon Series: Everybody Everywhere November 10, 17, and 24

There's an old church hymn that says, "The church is not a building, the church is not a steeple, the church is not a resting place, the church is a people." That statement is truer today than ever before. St. Andrew's mission is reaching thousands of people near and far each week, both in-person and online, through our satellite communities, outreach ministries, educational opportunities, and weekly worship offerings. Our welcome is wide. Our table is long. And our reach includes everybody, everywhere.

This three-part stewardship series will focus on the ways all of us, regardless of who we are, where we live, or how we connect with each other, can share a common vision for a life of generosity grounded in three world-changing biblical principles: that in God's economy, even a little can be a lot; that a meaningful life is more than the edifices we build; and that our devotion to God's aims transcends all other worldly commitments.

By embracing these three principles, everybody everywhere can live generous, purposeful, and God-shaped lives that bring more love, justice, and community to the world.
